Waste Management

Vol. 01

Hello!

We are Waste Management, a collection of student artists and cartoonists from Ringling College of Art and Design. This anthology began as a passing remark from Professor Joe Thiel: "Yeah, it would be cool if you made a comic. You should do that."

So we did!

Now Waste Management, an independent, student-led sequential anthology, is real and in your hands!

This collection is a labor of passion and liberation. It's many months of meetings, of drawings in fleeting free time, of honest peer feedback, and of spending a non-negligible number of nights slapping, patting, and verbally encouraging our college's finicky risograph. 12 pages of pure creative affliction...Come collect our junk.

But first, an offer of thanks to the people who made this thing real:

Joe Thiel, for putting the idea into our heads and for being so supportive of our subversive sequential work.

Amanda Ho, for being our risograph ferryman and steering us toward more streamlined decision-making.

The Makerspace at Ringling College, for letting us torture Rizzo the Rat

And a special acknowledgement for Ollie Martineau's printing assistance.

The World Will Go On.
